What is Qwo?

Qwo is the first FDA-cleared injectable for cellulite. Its active ingredient Collagenase Clostridium Histolyticum (CCH) is an enzyme that dissolves the kinds of collagen (mainly type one and type three collagen) that comprise those fibrous septae that cause the dimpling appearance of cellulite. It is safe for all skin types.

Before Your Evolve Med Spa Qwo Treatment

- You may not be treated if you have a history of collagenase allergy, bleeding abnormalities, are taking blood thinners (>150mg aspirin daily). Please reschedule your treatment if you are pregnant or breastfeeding.
- Plan accordingly: 84% of patients experience pretty severe bruising, bruising generally lasts about 2 weeks, full treatment plan is about 3 months in length (3 injection sessions each 3 weeks apart), final result can be seen 28 days post 3rd injections session.

After Your Evolve Med Spa Qwo Treatment

- Some patients experience injection site pain, induration (a hardened mass caused by inflammation), and pruritus (itching), which generally resolves in 7 days.
- Bruising is worst after first treatment and should last about 2 weeks.
- Make your next Qwo appoint in 3-4 weeks
- Call your healthcare provider if you have any of these symptoms of an allergic reaction after an injection of Qwo: hives, trouble breathing, low blood pressure, swollen face, chest pain, dizziness or fainting.
